MERRY CHRISTMAS

Happy holidays!

Sorry for not posting anything for like a month haha. Good news though, Chp.11 is being worked on right now! I want to thank in advance KronokInF for providing it, and Mizuouji from AQUAScans for translating it (currently in progress). AQUAScans is currently busy preparing for their big anniversary release coming up, so it might be a while before the translation is done.

As for the whole "Mister Book Guy" thing, I can't really say for sure since I'm not fluent in Japanese, but in a page in Chp.11 (SPOILER ALERT), Riku introduced "Shionn", but Shionn corrected him and says to call him "hon no onii-san". "Hon" means book, "no" is like a possessive term, and you guys should know what "onii-san" means, right? I don't know if I translated the term correctly in English, but it's probably better than translating it into "Brother of books", which sounds weird to me. The term is used again in this chapter as to say to Riku to not call him Shiorin, but that term he mentioned in Chp.11, if this made any sense...
